Understanding Active and Passive Voice

Active and passive voice represent two fundamental ways to express the relationship between the subject and the action in a sentence. In active voice, the subject performs the action directly, while in passive voice, the subject receives the action. Mastery of both voices is crucial for clear and varied communication in English writing and speaking.

Definition and Structure of Active Voice

Active voice sentences typically follow a clear pattern: subject + verb + object. The subject initiates the action, making the sentence direct and dynamic. For example, "The teacher explains the lesson." This structure emphasizes the doer of the action and is preferred in many writing contexts.

for its clarity and conciseness.

Definition and Structure of Passive Voice

Passive voice sentences shift the focus to the recipient of the action, often using the pattern: object + form of "to be" + past participle + (by + subject). An example is, "The lesson is explained by the teacher." Passive voice is useful when the actor is unknown, unimportant, or when emphasizing the action or its recipient.
