Understanding the Purpose of Now That Faith Has Come Workbook

The Now That Faith Has Come workbook is structured to facilitate a systematic study of faith as described in the New Testament, particularly focusing on the epistles of Paul. Its primary purpose is to guide believers through the transition from the law to grace, emphasizing the establishment of faith in Christ as the foundation of Christian life. The workbook encourages reflection on specific scripture passages and prompts critical thinking about the implications of faith in everyday living.

This workbook targets readers seeking to deepen their biblical knowledge and apply spiritual truths practically. It also serves as a valuable teaching tool for small groups and Sunday school classes, promoting interactive learning and discussion.

Key Themes and Scriptural Foundations

The workbook centers around several core theological themes that are crucial for understanding the relationship between faith and grace. These themes include justification by faith, the role of the law, the nature of grace, and the believer's new identity in Christ. Each theme is supported by relevant scripture references, primarily drawn from the book of Galatians and the letter to the Romans.

Justification by Faith

Justification by faith is a key doctrine that explains how believers are declared righteous before God not by works of the law but through faith in Jesus Christ. The workbook answers clarify this concept by referencing passages such as Romans 5:1 and Galatians 2:16, highlighting faith as the means of salvation.

The Role of the Law

The workbook addresses the function of the Mosaic Law in God's redemptive plan. It explains that the law served as a tutor to lead people to Christ but was never intended to be a means of salvation. Scriptural insights from Galatians 3:24 and Romans 7:7 help to illuminate this teaching.

The Nature of Grace

Grace is presented as God's unmerited favor, empowering believers to live righteously. The workbook emphasizes that grace supersedes the law and enables a new life in Christ, supported by scripture such as Ephesians 2:8-9 and Titus 2:11-12.

The Believer's New Identity in Christ

One of the transformative themes explored is the believer's identity as a new creation. The workbook answers discuss how faith leads to being united with Christ, resulting in freedom from sin and a renewed purpose, with scriptural backing from 2 Corinthians 5:17 and Galatians 2:20.

Detailed Workbook Answers and Explanations

This section provides comprehensive answers to the workbook questions, ensuring clarity and scriptural accuracy. Each answer is designed to elucidate the meaning of the passages and their relevance to the believer's walk of faith.

Example Question 1: What does it mean that faith has come?

The phrase “faith has come” signifies the arrival of the new covenant era through Jesus Christ, where faith replaces the law as the basis of righteousness. This transition is detailed in Galatians 3:23-25, which explains that before faith, people were under the law’s guardianship, but now faith has come, believers are justified by grace.

Example Question 2: How does the law relate to faith?

The law acts as a guide and reveals sin but cannot provide salvation. Faith fulfills the law’s purpose by enabling believers to live according to God’s will. Romans 10:4 states that Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to everyone who believes, emphasizing faith’s supremacy over legalistic observance.

Example Question 3: What role does grace play in the believer’s life?

Grace is the enabling power that sustains believers beyond justification. It teaches and empowers them to live godly lives despite challenges. Titus 2:11-12 highlights that grace trains believers to renounce ungodliness and live self-controlled lives.

Additional Answers Overview

- Faith is the means of receiving God’s promises (Hebrews 11:1).
- The law exposes sin but cannot save from its penalty (Romans 7:7-13).
- Believers are called to live by the Spirit, not by the flesh (Galatians 5:16-25).
- Freedom in Christ is a key result of faith’s arrival (John 8:36).
