Overview of the PSI National Real Estate Exam

The PSI national real estate exam is a standardized test administered by PSI Services LLC, designed to assess the competency of real estate license candidates across various states. This exam typically consists of two parts: the national portion covering general real estate principles and the state-specific portion addressing local laws and regulations. The national portion is consistent across states and focuses on fundamental real estate concepts, whereas the state portion varies depending on jurisdictional requirements. Candidates must pass both sections to obtain licensure. The exam format usually includes multiple-choice questions that evaluate knowledge in areas such as property ownership, contracts, financing, and valuation.

Exam Format and Administration

PSI exams are computer-based and administered at authorized testing centers nationwide. Candidates are provided a set time limit to complete the exam, generally ranging from two to four hours depending on the state. The questions are randomized to reduce predictability, and the testing environment is monitored to ensure fairness. The national portion typically contains about 80 questions, while the state-specific section may include 30 to 50 questions. Immediate preliminary results are often available upon completion, with official results sent to the relevant licensing authority.
