The Structure of the Texas Real Estate Exam

The Texas Real Estate Licensing Exam is divided into two main portions: the national portion and the state portion. The national section covers general real estate principles and practices, while the state section focuses on Texas-specific laws and regulations. Both parts are administered by the Texas Real Estate Commission (TREC) and must be passed to obtain a license.

National Portion

The national portion of the exam typically consists of 80 multiple-choice questions. These questions assess knowledge of real estate principles, property ownership, financing, contracts, and general real estate practices. Candidates have 150 minutes to complete this section.

State Portion

The state portion includes 30 multiple-choice questions focused on Texas real estate laws, rules, and regulations. This section also allows 90 minutes for completion. Familiarity with local statutes, licensing requirements, and agency relationships is crucial for success.

Passing Requirements

To pass the exam, candidates must achieve a minimum score of 70% on both the national and state portions. The exam is offered in person at authorized testing centers, and results are typically available immediately after completion.

They also highlight knowledge gaps that require further study.

Familiarity with Exam Format

Practice tests expose candidates to the style and difficulty of questions they will encounter during the real exam. This familiarity reduces anxiety and improves time management skills.

Identifying Strengths and Weaknesses

By reviewing practice test results, candidates can pinpoint topics they understand well and areas needing additional focus. This targeted approach makes study sessions more efficient and effective.
