Additional Resources

1. The Absolutely True Diary of a Part-Time Indian by Sherman Alexie

This semi-autobiographical novel follows Arnold Spirit Jr., a Native American teenager who transfers from his school on the Spokane Indian Reservation to an all-white high school. It explores themes of identity, poverty, friendship, and resilience. The book is often accompanied by worksheets that help students analyze its complex characters and cultural context.

2. Indian No More by Charlene Willing McManis

This novel tells the story of Regina, a young Umpqua girl whose family is relocated from their Oregon reservation in the 1950s due to federal government policies. It addresses themes of cultural loss, assimilation, and family struggles, making it a great complement to discussions about Native American identity found in Alexie's work.

3. The House on Mango Street by Sandra Cisneros

This coming-of-age novel features a Latina protagonist, Esperanza, who navigates life in a Chicago neighborhood. Like Alexie's diary, it uses vignettes and illustrations to explore themes of identity, poverty, and dreams for a better future. Worksheets often focus on cultural identity and personal growth.

4. Speak by Laurie Halse Anderson

This young adult novel centers on Melinda, a high school freshman who becomes mute after a traumatic event. The story explores themes of trauma, recovery, and finding one's voice. It pairs well with Alexie's novel as both deal with challenging adolescent experiences and personal resilience.

5. Wonder by R.J. Palacio

Wonder follows August Pullman, a boy with facial differences, as he attends school for the first time. Themes include acceptance, bullying, and kindness, which resonate with Arnold's struggles in a predominantly white school. Worksheets often focus on empathy and character development.

6. Brown Girl Dreaming by Jacqueline Woodson

This memoir in verse recounts Woodson's childhood as an African American girl in the 1960s and 70s.

It explores themes of identity, family, and the search for belonging, reflecting similar themes of cultural heritage and self-discovery found in The Absolutely True Diary of a Part-Time Indian.

7. Out of the Dust by Karen Hesse

Set during the Dust Bowl, this novel in free verse portrays a young girl's hardships and growth. It shares themes of adversity and resilience comparable to Arnold's experiences. Worksheets often focus on poetic form and historical context.

8. Ghost by Jason Reynolds

This novel follows Ghost, a boy with a troubled past who joins a track team to find direction. Themes include overcoming obstacles, identity, and mentorship, paralleling Arnold's journey toward self-improvement and hope. It is often used alongside Alexie's novel for discussions on personal growth.

9. The Crossover by Kwame Alexander

Written in verse, this book tells the story of twin brothers who are basketball stars dealing with family and personal challenges. Themes of family, identity, and perseverance connect well with Alexie's work, and worksheets often emphasize poetic structure and thematic analysis.
